

Prof. Hassan Al Barari (On Sabbatical)

Surname:	Al Barari
First Name:	Hassan
Date of Birth:	10 Janaury 1964
Academic Qualification:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - PhD in International Relations, University of Durham, UK (2001) - MA in International Relations, Leeds University, UK (1995) - BA in English and Politics, University of Jordan (1992)
Venia Legendi (Qualification to Teach):	Qualified to teach International Relations, Comparative Politics, Middle East Politics, Israeli Politics, and related fields at undergraduate and graduate levels
Further Qualifications:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Extensive research and publication record in Middle East politics and international relations - Visiting Professor experience at Yale University (2013–2015) - Awarded prestigious fellowships including Jennings Randolph Fellowship and British Council Chevening Scholarships
At the Higher Education Institution since:	2010 (University of Jordan, Associate Professor)
Level of Employment:	Associate Professor, Faculty of International Studies, University of Jordan
Teaching Focus:	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Comparative Politics - International Politics of the Middle East - Democracy and Political Islam - Israeli domestic and foreign policy - Arab-Israeli conflict and Middle East peace process
Interdisciplinary Aspects:	Integration of political science, international relations, conflict studies, and Middle East studies in teaching and research
Activities in the Areas:	Further Education: Continuous engagement in academic conferences and workshops internationally Research: Author of multiple books and peer-reviewed articles on Middle East politics, Israeli policy, Arab-Israeli conflict, democracy, and political Islam Consultancy: Diplomat Trainer at Institute for Diplomacy/Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Jordan (2004–2006)
How are personal research activities reflected in teaching activities?	Teaching content incorporates latest research findings from his own publications, ensuring up-to-date and applied learning experiences for students

Work Experience:	General: - Visiting Professor, Yale University (2013–2015)- Associate Professor, University of Jordan (2010–2013)- Assistant Professor, University of Nebraska at Omaha (2008–2009)- Senior Fellow, United States Institute of Peace, Washington, DC (2006–2008)- Researcher, Center for Strategic Studies, University of Jordan (2001–2006) Activities as an Expert: - Academic Director, World Learning/School for International Training, USA (2005)- Diplomat Trainer, Institute for Diplomacy, Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Jordan (2004–2006)- Political columnist for various newspapers
Publications:	Books <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Jordan and Israel: A Troubled Relationship in A Volatile Region (Berlin and Amman: Fredrick Ebert Stiftung, 2014). • Israeli Politics and the Middle East Peace Process, 1988-2002 (London and New York: Routledge, 2013). • Israelism: Arab Scholarship on Israel: Critical Assessment (London: Ithaca Press, 2009). • The Middle East: Peace by Piece: The Quest for a Solution to the Arab-Israeli Conflict (Amman: Fredrick Ebert Stiftung, 2009). • Jordan and Israel: Ten Years Later (Amman: Center for Strategic Studies, 2004). • Israel and the Decline of the Peace Process, 1996-2003 (UAE: ECSR, 2003). Articles and book chapters <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • “The Islamic State in Iraq and Syria: Ideology vs. Context,” International Journal of Social Sciences and Education, Vol. 7, no.4 (2017), pp.167-180. • “Clash of Interests: Political Constellation and State Responses after the Arab Spring,” in Erika Holmquist and John Rydqvist, the Future of Regional Security in the Middle East (Sweden: FOI, 2016), PP.45-55. • “Reforms and the Dynamic of In/Stability in Jordan During the Arab Uprisings,” Perceptions, Journal of International Affairs, Vol. 20, No. 4 (2015), pp.73-96. • “The Persistence of Autocracy,” Middle East Critique, Vol. 24, No. 1 (2015), pp.99-111. • The Limits of Political Change in Jordan: The Role of External Actors, Berlin: Friedrich-Ebert-Stiftung Dep. for Middle East and North Africa, December 2013.

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • “The Arab Spring: The Case of Jordan,” Ortaodogu Etutleri, Volume 3, No. 2, January 2012, pp.41-57. • “Liberating Women with Islam? The Islamists and Women’s Issues in Jordan,” Totalitarian Movements and Political Religious, vol. 11 no. 3-4, Sept-Dec. 2010, pp. 359-378. • “The Pragmatic and the Radical: Syria and Iran and war by proxy,” in Clive Jones and Sergio Catignani (eds.), Israel and Hizbollah (London and New York: Routledge, 2010), pp.109-123. • “Four Decades after Black September: A Jordanian Perspective” Civil wars, vol.10, no.3 September 2008 (London: A Frank Cass Journal, autumn 2008), pp.231-243. • “The Lebanon War: The American and Iranian Competing Strategies,” Jordan Journal of International Affairs, vol.1, no.1 (summer 2007) (in Arabic) • “Israel’s Security: Another Perspective,” Dirasat, Human and Social Science, vol.33, no.3 (October 2006), pp.629-639. • “The Agadir Declaration, the Euro-Mediterranean Partnership, and Potential to Foster Arab Economic Integration,” Dirasat, Human and Social Science, Vol.32, no.3 (October, 2005), pp.659-670. • “Israel’s Security in a Changing World,” Dirasat, Human and Social Science, vol.31, no.2 (June 2004), pp.478-488. • “The Intifada as Seen in Egypt,” Civil Wars, vol.6, no.3 (London: A Frank Cass Journal, autumn 2003), pp.86-106. • “The Swinging Pendulum of Israeli Politics,” Defensor Pacis, issue no.10 (January 2002), pp.45-54. • The Impact of the Intifada on Public Opinion in Israel, in Emad Gad (ed): Al-Aqsa Intifada: the Ambition of the Idea and the Crisis in Management (Cairo: Al-Ahram Center for Strategic and Political Studies, 2002), pp.131-162 (in Arabic).
Memberships:	- International Studies Association (since 2010)- Middle East Studies Association (since 2006)- Board of Directors, Jordanian Commission of Youth Democracy (since 2007)- Board of Directors, Institute for

	Diplomacy, Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Jordan (2006–2008)
International Experience in:	Academic Activities: Extensive international teaching, research, and visiting positions in the USA, UK, and Middle East
Personal Background/Experience:	Fluent in Arabic, English, and Hebrew; significant international exposure; recognized expert in Middle East politics and Arab-Israeli affairs
Other:	Recipient of prestigious academic fellowships and scholarships, frequent contributor to public discourse through media columns